Update on compulsory school attendance age

The following was sent to program directors.

Please see an update below from the Governor's Office on school districts voting to increase the compulsory school attendance age. Note that full implementation will be in the 2015-16 school year, by which time KYAE will have made revisions in its high school equivalency regulation and eligibility policy to be consistent with the new compulsory attendance age.

There's also a link to Graduate Kentucky, an effort to encourage school districts to increase the compulsory school attendance age.
